Coming soon! Improved evidence module

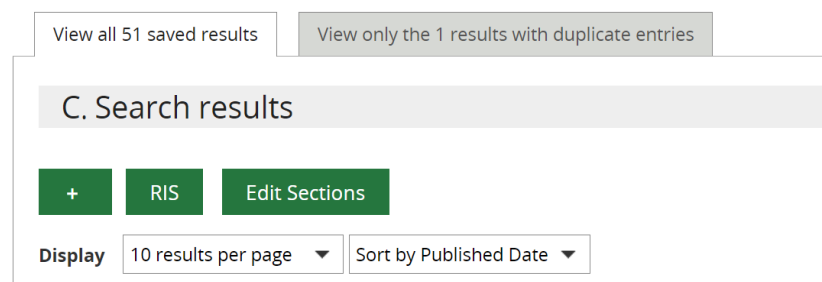

As you know, we have been working on a major overhaul of the evidence module, and we're very happy to announce that this is almost ready to go live.

The update will include the following new or improved functionality:

- De-duplication of results (brand new feature!)
- Uploading RIS files (simpler import process and many more RIS sources supported)
- Improvements to interface and output (order of elements in the interface matches final report, cleaner look and feel, new display options)

Existing users

If you already use KnowledgeShare to manage evidence searches, we will be in touch with the confirmed launch date and some priority training slots to introduce you to the changes. Our Evidence handbook will be updated, and a walkthrough video will be available.

What about my existing searches?

Previously completed searches will be updated to the new format automatically. We recommend completing any open searches before the update in case of any issues, but this is not essential.

New users

If you are new to managing searches with KnowledgeShare, we will be scheduling regular live demos for all users again soon.
